TRACKMEN'S UNION CHIEF MEETS WITH MEDIATORS

Railroad Executives Also Holding Conferences With Members of U. S. Labor Board—New Accessions to Shop Strikers' Ranks Not Expected.

ACTION BY PRESIDENT NOT LOOKED FOR SOON

Carrier Chiefs at St. Paul Announce Railroads of the Northwest Plan to Reorganize Their Roundhouse Forces.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, July 18.—Peace negotiations in the railway shopmen's and oilers' strike again are in the foreground today. E. F. Grable, president of the maintenance of way employees' union, and various railway executives, had conferences with members of the Railroad Labor Board.

While President Harding is known to have a definite plan for peace, it is believed he will take no immediate action.

Points of any peace program that might end the strike were discussed today at a meeting of the executive council of the Federated Shop Crafts Unions. All six presidents of the shopmen's unions attended this meeting with B. M. Jewell, the strike leader. President Grable also had a conference with Jewell, after which Grable said that he did not expect his men would join in the strike. Grable also was in conference with members of the Railroad Labor Board.

Although approximately 10,000 stationary firemen and oilers were reported added to the list of strikers yesterday, no further accessions are expected until after the meeting of the maintenance of way men's grand lodge at Detroit Friday. The 25,000 maintenance men who already on strike would not be counted "for the moment," Grable said.

Interges were granted by Federal courts to several railroads to restrain strikers from interfering with operation of trains. Suit was filed to prevent interference with shop operations at Toledo by the Wabash road.

At St. Paul railway executives announced that roads of the Northwest would start determined efforts to reorganize their shops following reorganization of the regional settlement of the strike.

Four Arrests After Kidnapping.

At Elkhorn, Ark., four men were arrested in connection with the kidnapping of a special agent of the Missouri Pacific Railroad.

Extra police, including 17 deputy United States Marshals, have been on duty at Perry, Ark., following an attempt to tamper with a locomotive there.

In North Carolina State troops were ordered to Rockingham, Wilson, Rocky Mount and Durham.

The shops of the St. Louis-San Francisco Railroad at Harvard, Ark., have been closed and repair work transferred to Memphis.

Cancellation of the two North and Southbound "Katy Flyer" between Waco, Houston and Galveston was announced by the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad. Six other trains were merged in three consolidations on the company's lines in Texas.

Striker Sent to Jail.

At Cincinnati the United States District Attorney sent to jail a striker who refused to tell the names of five men said to have been in his automobile when an alleged assault was made on two nonunion shopmen.

In Chicago policemen and railroad guards had a pistol and rifle fight with five men in an automobile who fired on the Baltimore & Ohio train transporting nonunion workers. No one was injured.

Seventy-five negroes were compelled to return eastward from Seligman, Ariz., after being notified that they would not be allowed to return to the Baltimore & Ohio train transporting nonunion workers. No one was injured.

Paul V. Kaesser of Wellston filed the injunction suit to restrain the Secretary of State from placing the referendum proposal on the ballot, and the injunction was granted in a decision written by Judge D. E. Blair, in which Chief Justice J. T. Blair and Judges Graves, Higbee and Elder concurred.

REFERENDUM ON MEDICAL COLLEGE BILL KNOCKED OUT

Supreme Court Holds Petitions for the Vote Failed to Contain Required Legal Signatures.

Medical organizations of the State have failed in their attempt to apply the referendum to the medical college bill, passed at the regular session of the 1921 Legislature. The Supreme Court today ruled that the signatures to the referendum petitions were insufficient.

The court's decision had no reference to the merits of the bill, which the medical organizations have attacked on the ground that it would tend to lower the standard of medical education.

The court's attempt to apply the referendum had been successful, the question of approving or rejecting the bill would have been placed before the voters, with other referendum and initiative proposals, at the November election. By the court's decision the law will be in effect at once.

In the attempt to submit the matter to a referendum, the opponents of the bill filed petitions from only the minimum number of congressional districts to meet the requirements, namely 11 districts. Supporters of the measure, therefore, had to show the signatures of the lists of signatures in only one district, to overthrow the whole, and this was done with reference to the Fourth Congressional District. There it was alleged, and established to the Court's satisfaction, that 26 signatures were duplicates, unauthorized, or those of minors.

Paul V. Kaesser of Wellston filed the injunction suit to restrain the Secretary of State from placing the referendum proposal on the ballot, and the injunction was granted in a decision written by Judge D. E. Blair, in which Chief Justice J. T. Blair and Judges Graves, Higbee and Elder concurred.

MEN PURSUED AS RATHENAUSLAYERS KILL THEMSELVES

Two Sought as Assassins End Lives When About to Be Captured in Castle Near Badkoesen.

POLICE HAD BEEN ON TRAIL SEVERAL DAYS

Plot to Kill Foreign Minister Said to Have Originated in Monarchist Crazed Mind of 17-Year-Old Youth.

By the Associated Press.

HALIE, Prussian Saxony, July 18.—Rather than surrender to police when near capture, Herman Fischer and Edwin Kern, sought by German authorities as the assassins of Foreign Minister Rathenau, shot themselves last evening in the turret of Sanneck Castle, near Badkoesen, to which they had been tracked.

The two men were found with fatal bullet wounds in the head after the police had forced an entrance to the tower by chopping down the door with axes. They still wore the clothing described in the warrant for their arrest.

17-Year-Old Youth Originated Plot to Assassinate Rathenau. Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch. (Copyright, 1922.)

BERLIN, July 18.—The assassination of Foreign Minister Rathenau originated in the monarchist-crazed mind of a 17-year-old youth last April, the Berlin police have disclosed.

Two men, blue-eyed, blonde-haired, a typical high school student, Hans Stubenrauch, inflamed by the propaganda of monarchist societies, to which he belonged, sought out William Guenther, 29, also a student, and confided to him the plan of murder. Stubenrauch has told the police he first planned to kill Dr. Rathenau in the Reichstag for its melodramatic effect. For days the two young men discussed this plan with all the secrecy and fervor of old-time Russian nihilists.

They stopped with talk; both lacked the courage to carry out their scheme into effect. But they related their ideas to the secret "Organization C," of which Guenther was a member.

VAN BLARCOM'S CREDITORS ACCEPT $2,000,000 LOSS

Motion for Distribution Reveals Estate of Late Banker Has Shrunk From $4,000,000 to $50,000.

ESTATE HELD OPEN FOR MANY YEARS

Five Claimants Whose Proved Claims Amount to $2,000,329 Willing to Take What They Can Get.

Shrinkage of the estate of the late Jacob C. Van Blarcom, who was president of the National Bank of Commerce, from $4,000,000 to $50,000, is disclosed in a motion for final distribution in the Probate Court.

The motion, filed by five creditors, sets forth that although the balance remaining has a par value of $2,095,096, the actual value is approximately $9,000 and the estate is in solvent.

When Van Blarcom died in 1908 an inventory listed personal property with a par value of $4,044,501. Proved claims against him amounted to $2,206,778.19, of which the five creditors who filed the motion held $2,000,329.81. These creditors are the National Bank of Commerce, the Commonwealth Trust Co., the Commonwealth & Commercial National Bank of Chicago, the National Bank of Commerce and the Jesse Spalding estate.

It is not known how the child contracted the disease, which is an infectious malady most prevalent among cattle and rare in man. He became ill a week ago, a blister on his face being the point of infection, and was admitted to the hospital for treatment. Physicians state that laboratory tests confirmed the provisional diagnosis of a well developed case of anthrax.

ALLEGED SLAYER AMONG 45 HELD

State Police of Pennsylvania and West Virginia Patrolling Their Respective Sides of Border.

By the Associated Press
WELLSBURG, W. Va., July 18.—Acting on orders of Sheriff Thomas Duval of Brooke County, whose father, Sheriff H. H. Duval, was killed with three other men in a fight between miners and a crew of invaders at the Cliftown mine of the Richland Coal Co., at Cliftown, early Monday morning, Deputy Sheriff George L. Cardwell, late last night, broke up and dispersed the tent colony of striking miners near the scene of the fight.

Forty-five men arrested by deputies and state police, are in custody here and in Wheeling. Three of these are in Washington hospitals. One of the last to be brought in was said by the officers to be the man whose shots killed the elder Duval. This prisoner's left arm was found to have been shattered by a bullet when he was captured at the Pennsylvania State line.

Dynamic Trap Found in Mine After Shooting at Entrance.

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., July 18.—Twenty-five nonunion miners about to enter No. 1 mine of the Buffalo Thacker Coal Co., at Ottawa, Boone County, early yesterday, were fired upon, and examination of the mine after the shooting revealed a dynamic trap concealed under the tracks about 800 feet from the mouth of the operation, according to information received by Col. Jackson Arnold, head of the State police. Use of all coal in the trail of those persons who set the trap aided bloodhounds which State police put on the trail, Arnold said.

It was stated by L. W. Helminger, superintendent of the mine, that 299 shots were fired at the workmen at the mouth of the mine as they were about to enter.

MIN HIT ON HEAD WITH POOL BALL IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Missile Husted by Stranger, Who Escaped After Breaking Up Game at 320 Park.

James Mensie, 21 years old, of 2839 Park avenue, is in a serious condition at the city hospital, suffering from concussion of the brain and a probable fracture of the skull, as a result of being struck on the temple with a pool ball in a billiard hall at 3200 Park avenue by a man who interfered in a game Sunday night. His assailant escaped.

Mensie told the police that he and a friend named Fred were playing pool when the stranger entered and ordered them to shoot at the balls without racking them. When he and Fred resented the interference, he said, the stranger picked up ball and, holding it in his fist, hit Fred on the nose. Mensie said he started to leave, when the stranger threw the ball at him, knocking him unconscious.

Ernest Grogan, proprietor of the parlor room, told the police the man who threw the ball was not known to him, and apparently had been drinking.

TO URGE TRAFFIC SUMMONS RULE

President of Police Board to Address Public Safety Meeting.

President Brockman of the Board of Police Commissioners, who recently returned from a visit to Pacific Coast cities, has been invited to attend a public safety meeting and banquet at 6:30 o'clock this evening at Melbourne Hotel. He will tell of his observations upon traffic laws and regulations in the West.

Among measures to be suggested will be a revision of the ordinances to summon traffic violators to court instead of being required, as at present, to leave their posts and take a violator to a police station.

There were 200 or more men. The leader, with a companion, climbed to the top, where, Edwards declared, he saw the men stand, wave the flag and shout: "Come on, boys, she's ours."

Oil Poured on Floor.

The men crowded into the tipple, oil was poured on the floor and the structure burst into flames.

Sheriff Duval and Deputy Hough were fighting side by side, the defendant said, but had to retreat down the hill, while other deputies had taken positions near the mouth of the mine.

The fighting, according to Supt. Edwards, lasted for almost one and one-half hours.

Sheriff Duval, killed when three men of the attacking party also lost their lives, was a son of Brigadier-General Isaac Hardin Duval, who fought with the Union forces in the Civil War. The father was later a Government treaty agent to Indian tribes of the West. The family was long prominent in the West Virginia Panhandle.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

AUBURN, N. Y., July 18.—Gussie Hammun surrendered her 2-weeks-old boy to her mother in the maternity ward of the city hospital Sunday evening, and was returned to the infirmary of Auburn prison for women yesterday.

The baby, still without name, was taken by Mr. and Mrs. John Hammun of Woodhaven, L. I., and they will bring him up at their home. The infant was given a complete outfit of clothing by Mrs. Florence Koch, Deputy Sheriff of Queens County, who was in charge of the Human baby during the trial for murder. Under a new law, children born to inmates of state's prisons must be taken from the mother not later than two weeks after birth and brought up outside of the institution in which the parent is confined. The Human baby is the first to come under the new law.

10 INDICTED ON $1,000,000 FRAUD PLOT CHARGE

Action Taken by Federal Grand Jury in Case Growing Out of Disposition of Government Lumber Following War.

O'Sullivan and Dunn Sentenced to Death 26 Days After English Field Marshal Was Killed.

By the Associated Press
WASHINGTON, July 18.—An indictment against 10 persons charging conspiracy to defraud the United States out of more than $1,000,000 in connection with the disposition of Government lumber following the war was returned today by the special Federal grand jury which has been in session since June 1 investigating the transactions.

Those named in the indictment are John L. Phillips, Republican State Committeeman for Georgia; John Stephens, partner of Phillips; Ernest C. Morse, Charles S. Shottwell, George M. Chambers, Frank T. Sullivan, Roland Perry, Charles Phillips, Jr., Gus Eltzen and Mitchell A. Touart Jr.

The indictment was the first to be reported by the grand jury empaneled to investigate war frauds for which Congress appropriated $500,000 for the use by Attorney-General Daugherty and a special corps of assistants.

There was no cry of "Hear, hear" from the rear of the dock. The black cap was placed upon the Judge's head. He then passed the sentence of death on Dunn, and when he ended with the words, "And may the Lord have mercy on your soul," Dunn said quietly: "He will, my lord."

The Judge then sentenced O'Sullivan, who at the conclusion cried: "You may kill my body, my soul will by your spirit will never kill."

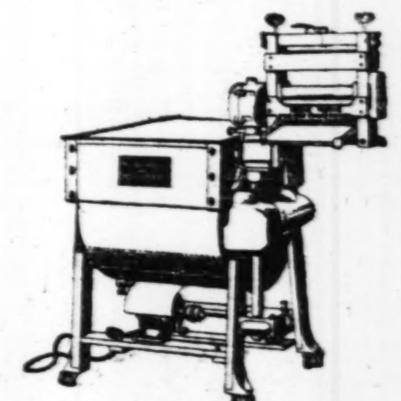

Precautions were taken to see that no sympathetic spectators, including publicans, gained admittance to the court. Even the few admitted into the public gallery were carefully scrutinized by the police and those who obtained seats in the public part of the court were well known to the sheriffs and chief officers.

Thus, 24 days from the date on which the noted soldier was murdered, the assassins were convicted and the death penalty imposed. This constitutes a record in England.

The Attorney-General's case for the prosecution had been easily won to present, before opening the defense. Artemas Jones, of counsel for the prisoners, asked that Dunn be permitted to make a statement. The statement was handed to the Judge, who declared it to be a political manifesto, justifying the right to kill. He therefore could not permit it to be read. The Court said that Dunn could give evidence if he wished.

Jones announced after a consultation that the defendants took the view that because of the Judge's refusal to permit Dunn's statement to be read they no longer wished to have legal representation.

Mount Victoria, which is 11,355 feet above sea level, presents its extremely steep, glacier-covered west face to visitors at Lake Louise. The ice-clad summit towers more than 8000 feet above the lake. Four years ago Fynn conceived the bold idea to climb the steep west face, which had never been attempted, although the summit had been reached by other less hazardous routes. Because of the nature and steepness of the slope, success was hardly to be expected unless conditions were ideal. In the last three years a change in the weather twice defeated Fynn and Aemmer, and they were twice frustrated by high winds and falling stones.

The fifth and successful attempt was started at 12:10 a. m. Saturday in promising weather and the upper Victoria glacier reached three hours later by lantern light. Excellent progress was made on the ice and at 5:25 a. m. the climbers stood at the foot of the last wall and immediately below the summit.

Give Up Grizzly Bear Hunt.

Fynn, who is also an expert horseman, swimmer, big game hunter and amateur wrestler, left St. Louis, April 29 for Alaska to hunt the Kamchatka bear, a gigantic species of the grizzly. Early thaws made it difficult to locate the game sought, but he bagged several black and brown bears, and he gave up the expedition July 1 and returned to the States, which needs a in the Canadian Rockies almost at the foot of Mount Victoria.

Average Slope of 60 Degrees.

Islands of gray and yellow rock interrupt the continuity of the lower part of the slope, but all the rocks are loose and brittle, with no possibility for foothold. The average inclination of this slope is 60 degrees.

Fynn was fortunate in finding a snow bridge that helped him over the yawning crevasses, but the next obstacle almost caused defeat. The slope above the crevasses was covered with a deep layer of granular snow ready to break loose as an avalanche.

Precarious and slow progress was made possible only by the presence of a two-inch ice crust on this snow, and with Aemmer leading, this obstacle, together with the crevasses, loose black rock that slide from place almost at the touch, a distance of 10 yards was traversed in this expedition to traverse two miles of forest undergrowth. He has also made a number of first routes and first ascents up other mountains in that vicinity. Three years ago he traversed a lofty ridge from the north to the main peak of Mount Victoria, the trip requiring 24 hours of strenuous work.

In the Fynn house in the St. Regis Apartments are mounted specimens of rare types of mountain goats that Fynn hunted in combining the sport of mountain climbing with that of hunting.

Photographs of the west face of Mount Victoria and of Fynn and Aemmer, the guide, appear on the pictorial page of today's Post-Dispatch.

John Fynn, 39, of 4954 Lindell boulevard, consulting electrical engineer, last Saturday scaled the west face of Mount Victoria in the Canadian Rockies, the first time that the mountain has been surmounted by this route.

The ascent up the precipitous and almost perpendicular face of the mountain required 13½ hours of constant climbing, and was effected without mishap to Fynn or his Swiss guide, Rudolph Aemmer. It was Fynn's fifth attempt to perform this feat, and he having met defeat on four previous occasions.

With a Mountain Climber.

Fynn is 50 years old and has been climbing mountains for 30 years, having climbed all the important peaks in Switzerland and North America. Mrs. Fynn, who has accompanied her husband on most of his trips to the Canadian Rockies, remained at home this year and received word yesterday of her husband's latest feat. She is also a mountain climber, being the only woman to scale the north peak of Mount Victoria, which is about 100 feet lower than the main peak of the range, which Fynn conquered Saturday. She did this in 1919, and the previous year she reached the summit of Mount Pinnacle, more than 14,000 feet high. She and her husband are members of the Canadian Alpine Club of Banff.

Give Up Grizzly Bear Hunt.

Fynn, who is also an expert horseman, swimmer, big game hunter and amateur wrestler, left St. Louis, April 29 for Alaska to hunt the Kamchatka bear, a gigantic species of the grizzly. Early thaws made it difficult to locate the game sought, but he bagged several black and brown bears, and he gave up the expedition July 1 and returned to the States, which needs a in the Canadian Rockies almost at the foot of Mount Victoria.

DEATH OF MAN KILLED BY TRAIN HELD TO BE ACCIDENTAL

Due to Failure of Frisco Railroad to Provide Watchman at Crossing, Coroner's Jury Decides.

A Coroner's jury in Clayton yesterday returned a verdict of accidental death, due to the failure of the Frisco Railroad to provide a watchman or signal at the Vermont avenue crossing in St. Louis County, in the case of Charles Toenbohn, 48, who was killed last Friday when a Frisco train struck a truck which he was driving at the intersection of Vermont avenue and Gravois road, at Afton.

Vermont avenue was held to be a main thoroughfare while Gravois road is closed for repairs. Testimony in the inquest was received from Probate Judge Holleman, president of the Automobile Club of St. Louis County, filed a complaint with the Public Utilities Commission at Jefferson City a week previous to the accident, in which he reported the danger of the crossing and requested the watchman or a proper signal at the intersection. He was notified Saturday that a bell would be provided.

WOMAN CALLS OUT FIREMEN TO AID IN CATCHING MONKEY

Wife of Former Dartmouth Football Star Wins Over Frenchman and Regains Pet.

(Copyright, 1922.)

DEAUVILLE, July 18.—Ordinarily there is trouble when the fire department is called out on a false alarm. But Preston Gibson and Mrs. Malcolm Waite, wife of the former Dartmouth football star, and one of the leaders of the American colony here, got away with it yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Waite's pet monkey broke its diamond-studded leash, and was having such a glorious time among the trees of its mistress' garden that it could not be lured back. Finally Gibson conceived the idea of putting in a fire alarm. This was duly answered, but strangely enough the firemen resented being called out to chase a monkey instead of a fire.

Mrs. Waite finally prevailed upon them to do their best, and with their fire ladders they took up the chase. At last one daring man climbed up the topmost branches of a large tree and at the cost of many bites dragged the little animal by its collar of rubies back to Mrs. Waite.

Introducing
Upholstered Furniture

Sanitized Against Germs and Moths

IT is our good fortune to be the first to present this type of Furniture in the City of St. Louis.

The beauty and comfort of luxuriously upholstered Furniture has always been offset by the menace of the germs which it harbored. With a determination to eliminate this unpopular feature, scientists have worked out plan after plan. The satisfactory result is presented in "sanitized" Furniture.

This Furniture is especially treated, by an exclusive patented process, so that every particle of raw material, every fiber that goes into its construction, both inside and out, not only is free from, but insured forever against germs and moths.

We ordered many Suites in our initial purchase, so impressed were we with the splendid qualities which they presented.

Other dealers in other cities are likewise ordering in large quantities. Consequently, the manufacturer is devoting an entire factory to the exclusive production of the Suite illustrated above. Volume production in the building of Furniture or any other thing means a real saving.

Thus we were able to purchase Sanitized Furniture at a figure which makes it a highly attractive August Sale feature.

RUNAWAY PASTOR GETS ONE YEAR IN JAIL AND $500 FINE

The Rev. W. W. Culp Agreed to Give Up Girl He Eloped With and Return to Family.

XENIA, O., July 18.—The Rev. W. W. Culp, Spring Valley pastor, pleaded guilty of abandoning his family in Probate Court today and was sentenced to one year in the Dayton, O., workhouse and fined $500 and costs, as the result of his elopement with Esther Hughes, 19 years old.

Mrs. Culp and her nine children were at the station last evening when Probation Officer J. E. Watts returned from Port Huron, Mich., with the former preacher. "I am willing to return to my wife and children," Culp said last night, "and I will give up the girl. I did not love my wife when I married her. She was not a Christian and, although I attempted to convert her, I could not do so. When she would get angry she would curse, which I do not think a Christian should do. I want to go back to my wife, because she is the mother of my children."

Mrs. Culp said she was ready to forgive her husband, provided he would return to her and act like a father should. Otherwise, she said, she did not care what they did with him. Culp declared his wife drove Miss Hughes and himself from home, telling them both to get out. "I will forgive her for this," he said. He said that it was not his intention to attempt to re-enter the ministry.

Hawaiian Volcano Again Active.
By the Associated Press.

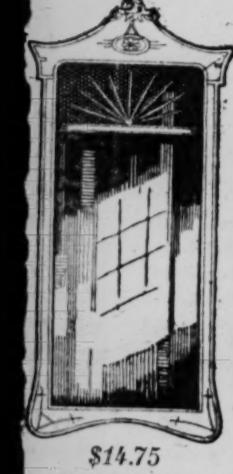

HONOLULU, T. H., July 18.—Kilauea volcano, whose lake of molten lava some weeks ago dropped hundreds of feet and led to speculation as to whether the crater ever again would be active, broke forth again yesterday with its old-time vigor.

into healthy tissue, and to do this the food must pass through the process of digestion and assimilation until it is done and fit for the body to use.

You are not trying to put on flesh.

Your system is not trying for something that will turn the food into flesh—there is no flesh to assimilate in order to do this, and it can only be done in one way—correcting faulty digestion.

There are many run-down people,

however, with impoverished blood, and starved looks are hailing with delight a quick and easy way to get fat.

The new and latest diet is called

EVANS' TRIPLE TRIPOLIS.

It is unequalled for repairing faulty digestion and for removing all digestive troubles.

In fact, the makers of this diet guarantee that one month's treatment will give you a weight gain of several pounds and will give you a new lease of life.

Caution: Evans' Triple Tripolis

phosphates accomplishes wonders in nervous diseases, but it is not a general nerve tonic. It should not be taken by anyone who objects to a few additional pounds of solid, stay-there flesh.

SPENCER CHARGED WITH WORKING FOR
DEFEAT OF REEDSenator Stanley of Kentucky, Wilson Democrat, Criticises Missourian for Alleged "Pernicious Activity."ACCUSED OF SENDING NEGRO AGITATOR HEREAsserts There Is Not Power Enough in Conspiracy to
"Down and Damn Brave and Dauntless Reed."

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—The meddling of Senator Spencer in Democratic politics out in Missouri was roundly assailed yesterday noon by Senator Stanley, Democrat, Kentucky. He also sharply criticized the sending of Wilbur F. Crafts, the Negro agitator, to Missouri to work for Reed's defeat. He acknowledged being an ardent disciple of Woodrow Wilson, but said it would not extend to the selection of Senators.

"There is not on either side of this chamber a greater lawyer," said Stanley, "a more profound scholar, a more dauntless advocate of the truth, a quicker or a dauntless champion of these things for which Thomas Jefferson stood."

"I say to the junior Senator from Missouri, Mr. Spencer, that he may, jekal like, nibble at his heels, send Crafts and his kind to do his bidding, but there is not power enough in the secret and sinister conspiracy of Republicanism on the other side of the chamber to down and damn the brave and dauntless James A. Reed of Missouri."

Interrupted by Spencer.

At this point Senator Spencer interrupted to say he had never discussed the Missouri campaign in the Senate. He had, however, written the Republican organizations in the 114 counties asking for a report on the Democratic situation and that he received 110 replies which indicated that 65 counties were for Long, 20 for Reed and the others in doubt.

"It is worse than I thought," exclaimed Senator Stanley, "and the confession of guilt is appalling. Why go to all the trouble, to all the expense of making the wires between Republican headquarters in Washington and St. Louis except that he knew, as does every Republican in this Senate, that it was better to let 10 or 12 counties go than to let Jim Reed get back here with his sequence and his courage to damn Republican delinquencies."

"It is perfectly plain and manifest. They sent for Crafts, a negro equally Republican, from Pennsylvania, and shipped him into Missouri and sent for the junior Senator, Mr. Spencer, to use his means of information and put his organization into a Democratic primary and, to my shame, without a blush, the debonair and innocent Senator from Missouri confesses his damnable and perfidious interference."

Not Personally Interested.

After a short silence, Senator Spencer, of whom he said "there is not a more ladylike Senator on this floor," had been charged with "minister motive" in his ardent advocacy of a Democratic candidate in a Democratic primary. Senator Stanley said:

"I am not personally interested in James A. Reed. I have never voted with him in any of his differences with the President. There are not a dozen Senators here who have followed Woodrow Wilson with the same devotion that I have. I never vote against a Wilson policy in life. Whether I was right or wrong about it, I do not for a moment say, but it is the truth. I have followed him when I thought he was right and I have followed him sometimes when I was not so certain about it, because I had absolute trust in the disinterestedness of his patriotism and the transcendent brilliancy of his genius."

"And now that the war is over and Kaisers are dead and democracy and liberty are on top, you same crowd, to a man, to whom you rallied in such a frenzy of enthusiasm, to compensate you for your noble patriotism, is lined up against you in battle array and ready to shoot you down like dogs."

Assails Union Leaders.

"It is true, Mr. Unionman, that your craft union leaders, with scarcely an exception, stood with the Wall street profiteers in howling for war and rushing you, the common herd, into the trenches to be gassed, mutilated and murdered while they remained in the rear to receive the plaudits of the plutocratic press for their patriotism. But that does not excuse you, for you chose those leaders and were responsible for them, and, after all, the leaders are about as fit as the rank and file that elects them."

"And I wish to say here and now that when I learned that Wilbur F. Crafts, the Negro, for Pennsylvania, has invaded the State of Missouri to assail James A. Reed, I rise in my place to say that the national democracy has an interest and that towering figure is stricken down it is not only the loss of Missouri, but the loss of the national democracy."

National Democracy Interested.

"Whenever we give to our Senators, we have destroyed this Government, made a scrap of paper of the Constitution and established an autocracy which Mr. Wilson would abhor as much as I do."

"I wish to say here and now that when I learned that Wilbur F. Crafts, the Negro, for Pennsylvania, has invaded the State of Missouri to assail James A. Reed, I rise in my place to say that the national democracy has an interest and that towering figure is stricken down it is not only the loss of Missouri, but the loss of the national democracy."

May to Discuss Indorsement of Reed

by Group of Democratic Senators.

Charles M. Hay will make a long speech at Delmar boulevard, west of Hamilton avenue, tomorrow night. He will deal particularly with the intransigent which Senator Reed is receiving from a small group of Democratic Senators in Washington.

PRINCE RUPPRECHT, HOPE OF THE BAVARIAN MONARCHISTS,
PREDICTS GERMAN CIVIL WAR"Berlin Must Taste Red Terror Before Better Understanding Between North and South Is Created," Says Former Crown Prince.

(Heinrich Petermeyer, writer of the article which the Post-Dispatch and New York World presents, is a Dutch journalist and formerly was tutor to the sons of Count Oldenburg, Prince of Anenberg Castle, where the former Kaiser lived for more than a year and a half after his flight from Germany. He obtained interviews with Wilhelm and the ex-Kaiser.)

By HEINRICH PETERMEYER.

(Copyright, 1922.)

MUNICH, July 17.—The struggle between the republicans and monarchists is reaching a climax in Germany. The Bavarians are gathering around former Crown Prince Rupprecht, and it seems to be only a question of time when he will be crowned King of Bavaria and possibly proclaimed the new Emperor of Germany.

Through the mediation of Dr. von Kahr, former Prime Minister of Bavaria and now Rupprecht's right-hand man, the once Crown Prince received me in the old Leuchtenberg Palace here. I asked him what he thought would be the outcome of the present struggle between German republicans and monarchists.

"Germany is facing a terrible catastrophe which the Berlin Government is trying to avoid by forceful laws against the monarchists. These laws cannot change the public opinion, but will help only to stimulate the ferocity of the struggle."

The policy of the Berlin Government is leading us into civil war. Probably Berlin must taste the red terror as we did in Munich before a better understanding between south and north Germany can be reached.

"The great war utterly destroyed confidence between the nations. This is also true as between certain German states. The relationship between Prussia and Bavaria is the best example of this. Berlin has no more understanding for Munich than has Paris for Berlin. Munich through real revolution and the people's present state of mind is only the natural reaction after the red terror Munich experienced during the short Communist reign.

"All our efforts to restore order in Munich since the revolution have been misunderstood by Berlin, which pretends to regard them as preparations to force a monarchy on the people. In Bavaria no one thinks of restoring the monarchy by force, least of all myself. But the time will come when the majority of the people of Bavaria will decide the question."

"Countries outside of Germany cannot regain confidence in Germany as long as differences regarding the form of government of Germany constantly threaten her interior stability. It is not surprising that America refused to participate in the conferences at Genoa and the Hague as long as the internal stability of various European countries was not guaranteed. America agrees with us. Europe is waiting for help, but I doubt that she will help until a strong government is re-established in Germany."

"Germany cannot pay the reparations that are demanded. Further attempts of the Berlin Government to carry on the fulfillment of its policy means the bankruptcy of Germany. And bankruptcy means shaking hands with the soviets and inviting Bolshevism into Central Europe."

Want U. S. to Admit Refugees.

Members of the council expressed the hope that the United States would relax its immigration restrictions so as to permit a moderate number of Russian refugees to enter the country, thereby lessening the burden of the countries charged with their care. It is announced that this problem of succoring and protecting helpless Russian refugees was nearing a solution.

La Follette charged that Taproot

Constantinople was nearing a solution, as the American Red Cross had generously guaranteed $75,000 for evacuation purposes and the American Relief Administration had pledged itself to feed the refugees for four months while the American Y. M. C. A. will assist in their welfare.

The four-power treaty was denounced an un-American.

The disarmament congress, he said, was designed to protect financial interests, not lives.

Plunder People Through Tariff.

Even greater plans are now under way, he said, to pass the Fordney-McCumber tariff bill, the ship subsidy bill, and an alleged administration plan to postpone the bonus.

If he said, Congress was bent on raising the interest of the whole people and not special interests, the Fordney-McCumber tariff bill would not get 10 votes in the Senate; and he said its rates are substantially higher than those of the Payne-Aldrich tariff that drove the Republican party power.

Opposed Entry Into War.

He advocated an excess profits tax for raising money for the soldiers and their families.

The council will endeavor to match American generosity by asking similar pledges of assistance from the member countries, who already had contributed $5,000.

An agreement has been reached by Great Britain, France and Belgium to submit their tariff bills to the Senate.

The Russian representatives were openly furious at the manner in which they were summoned to present new proposals today before the Joint Subcommission on Private Property and sat up until an early hour trying to decide whether to attend today's meetings.

The French delegation has little faith in the attempt to reopen the conference, insisting that M. Litvinov's letter of yesterday contains nothing new. They insist that his letter means that the Russians will not restore compensated property and will talk compensation until they are sure how much money they are going to get from abroad.

Some delegates are openly accusing the Russians of seeking to sow discord among the non-Russians, with the idea afterward of fishing to their own profit in the troubled waters thus created.

The Russian delegation refused to attend today's meeting of the Joint Subcommission on Private Property.

Instead, they sent a letter to the conference, saying they would attend a meeting of the whole conference or meeting of the chairmen of the three subcommissions, but would not deal separately with any single subcommission.

The Right to Starve.

After thinking it all over seriously, A not to say semiprayerfully, my definite conclusion is that President Harding is almost, though perhaps not quite, to be forgiven his unhappy error in nominating the recent Mr. Goldstein, because of this brief, brave, big statement in his Fourth of July speech at Marion:

"Liberty is gone in America when any man is denied by anybody the right to work and live by that work. It does not matter who denies. The free American has the right to labor without any other's leave."

Now let you know that I am no plutocrat myself. I may say that as a member of a trade union I once organized a strike; though I didn't try to deny to any other man the right to seek the job I quit. Incidentally, I'm still out.

Score an Error for Hendrik.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

A friend Hendrik napping, but his "Story of Mankind" is such a wideawake proposition in the main that he is entitled to this short siesta. In your Saturday installment of his great work Dr. Van Loon took a nap on the map of the Missouri and Kansas. Witness this paragraph:

It is quite true that Athens is glorious, during the hey-day of their glory, had only one-tenth of the population of Kansas City. But our present civilization would be very different had neither of these two little cities of the Mediterranean basin existed. And the same (with due apologies to the good people of Wyandotte County) can hardly be said of this busy metropolis on the Missouri River.

Now let Jackson County, Mo., challenge Wyandotte County, Kan., to mortal combat. Of course, Wyandotte County also has a Kansas City, but that is no reason why THE Kansas City should be robbed of the glory of being compared with Athens and Sparta.

Well, at last I am vindicated. About a quarter of a century ago, when the beautiful name of the city of Wyandotte was changed to Kansas City, with another and greater Kansas City just across the State line, I remarked that the officials responsible for deciding that fine and distinctive old Indian name for another Indian name that would be confusing should be boiled in a man's eye.

Stubborn, Selfish, Lazy Drivers.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

ENJOYED reading Robert S. Harbison's letter in tonight's edition of St. Louis' best paper, but after giving attention to the splendid editorial touching upon it, headed "How to Stop Motor Accidents." I thought the latter answered it. In boiling the matter down, I conclude that selfishness and laziness, instead of carelessness, are at the bottom of 99 per cent of all accidents.

Selfish drivers pick the good parts of the road and cause others to wait for them as they pass a car, or dart ahead of a car, then slow down narrowly avoiding the other car. Stubborn drivers, particularly those of heavy trucks, delight in blocking traffic, or bowling through, knowing the smaller cars will scatter. The lazy drivers cut corners too closely, sit back while going at a good pace, with one hand on the wheel, being in no position to swerve or stop suddenly should a machine or child dart out from the curb.

Traffic officers have done wonders and the new boulevard law has made good citizens out of many a rough-neck truck driver.

AMI WRIGHT.

A Shopman Writes.

LIKE a great many thousands of men in my class, we have laid down our tools and walked out, because we refuse to accept a reduction in wages, proposed by a tribunal appointed by Congress and dictated to by the railroad magnates of this country. The men in my class have nothing to sell but their labor. Under the present conditions this will soon be bought the same as any other commodity.

Men who have put in years, who have toiled day in and day out, who have given satisfaction in every line of work, are now classed as outlaws by this board. When one of the leading railroads of this country flatly refuses to comply with the board's decisions, was it classed as an outlaw?

I have before me the assessed valuation, fixed by the Board of Assessors of personal property and real estate. The assessed value of one of the large railroads in this city is exactly the same as that placed on the furniture in my home. Another road whose books are in at Union Station every day are assessed at only $25 more. The common people of this country do not realize these things.

There are today two million people, including railway men, coal miners, textile workers, clamoring for a living wage. When this is granted business will be better.

LEE O'BRIEN.

THAT "DAMNABLE PLOT."

Senator Stanley, in an impassioned eulogy of his friend, Senator Reed, charges the Republicans with a damnable conspiracy to defeat Reed. He says that Senator Spencer's poll of Democratic votes in the approaching primary was part of a Republican plot to get rid of Senator Reed. He says, when they "go down on their knees to a protectionist god they say, 'Oh, Lord, keep Reed out of the Senate!'"

It is a strange situation. While, according to Senator Stanley, the Republicans in Washington are praying that Senator Reed may be kept out of the Senate, Republicans in Missouri are working to keep him in the Senate. Among the most active supporters of Senator Reed and earnest advocates of his nomination and election are Missouri Republicans, particularly Republicans of German origin and sympathy, who love him on account of his attacks on Woodrow Wilson and his fight on the Wilson administration. Some of them are campaigning vigorously in his behalf throughout the State. Senator Reed expects a large Republican vote in St. Louis and in counties populated by German Republicans. They, with the Sinn Fein Irish voters, who love him, not only for his opposition to Wilson and his policies, but for his repeated denunciation of Great Britain, are counted among the most enthusiastic followers of the Senator.

On the other hand, thousands of Democrats in Missouri—a majority, we believe—are praying the good Lord to "Rid-us-of-Reed." They oppose him because he opposed Wilson and the Wilson policies in the election of 1920, opposed the Democratic party, its adopted platform, its policies and its candidates; they oppose him because he helped to destroy the Wilson peace program, helped to defeat the Democratic party and to elect a Republican President and the whole Republican ticket in Missouri. They, in common with the Republicans, regard him as the most powerful aid to partisan Republicanism in its campaign to destroy Wilson and defeat his great peace-making program and to elect a Republican administration. He campaigned for a bitter anti-League of Nations Republican candidate for the Senate in Wisconsin.

Republican leaders doubtless do not like Senator Reed so well since they have got into office and power with his aid and since he opposed their peace policies and ridiculed President Harding, whom he helped to elect, but there is no doubt about the friendly alliance between the Senator and Republican groups in Missouri who are still appreciative of his destructive attacks on Wilson and of his aid in smashing the whole Democratic program.

So, we repeat, the situation is extraordinary. Republicans pray to be rid of Reed, Republicans working to keep Reed in the Senate, a majority of Democrats praying and working to get rid of Reed and a few senatorial friends of Reed eulogizing him and charging a damnable Republican plot to defeat Reed. Why a plot and conspiracy? Since Senator Reed is trying to square himself with the Democrats and get back into the party so that he may be re-elected as a Democrat, isn't it natural that Republican leaders should try to keep Republican voters from voting for and re-electing him? Are they not plotting to defeat all Democrats and elect all Republicans?

In view of the situation in Missouri, where Republican voters are expected to jump their party in the primary to help Reed, one is inclined to wonder what party the Senator belongs.

Is he not a man without a party? Isn't his party the Jim Reed party, composed of all those whose enemies the Senator has swatted?

It is quite true that thirty-five thousand persons were attracted to Forest Park Zoo Sunday. This might be called Municipal animal magnetism.

SARAZEN THE GREAT.

Hagen, Hutchison, Barnes—the hardy perennial, Evans—Bobby Jones, the Southland's juvenile prodigies—the British expeditionary force, Duncan and Hunter—such was the list of claimants to the American open golf championship, in the prognosis of the experts.

Gene Sarazen won. Who is Gene Sarazen? Yesterday a youth to fortune and fame unknown; today a celebrity in all the tongues of golf.

The new champion, we are told, is of Italian extraction. A couple of years ago, a caddy, a merry mercenary of the links, whose passion was baseball, has come into his eminence, after a shorter apprenticeship, so far as we know, than any of his predecessors. But the mercurial temperament of his life. The thing to do now is to get on with the work of building roads. The watchword of the commission now should be construction, for which it has so well planned.

Objections, of course, will be made to the engineers' report. Full opportunity will be afforded by the commission to localities with grievances. That is the right procedure. But eventually discussion must end, the rule of cloture be invoked and the work of road construction commenced. No matter how conscious the commission may be of its own fairness, some dissatisfaction must be encountered. That is the price of conscientious service in public life. The thing to do now is to get on with the work of building roads. The watchword of the commission now should be construction, for which it has so well planned.

Garibaldi yell and a handspring, which was also something new in golf.

The presentation of the prize seems also to have been an ordeal undergone with boyish embarrassment, but the speech of acknowledgment had touch of genuine Latin grace: "I can't say anything, fellows; it's all in my heart and nothing in my head. I'm just like all the youngsters that way."

It's great to be a golf champion, and America takes Gene Sarazen to her bosom. And it's great to be 21.

The gentlemen who attended that Dickey dinner have not yet committed themselves, but, presently, they will commence crowing, "Brewster, Brewster, he's our rooster."

NOW BUILD THE ROADS.

The engineers of the State Highway Commission have platted a system of roads which the commission has tentatively accepted. The work has been excellently done. The engineers, it is evident, undertook this difficult task without prejudice or timidity, but determined to carry out the intent of the Legislature, which was to give Missouri the most adequate system of roads, from every viewpoint, that could be constructed with the money available. The proposed plan, as shown in the map published in the Post-Dispatch, becomes more impressive the more it is studied. Without exaggeration, the plan is a "gridiron system," which, with capable business management by the commission, can be transmuted from blueprint to fact.

The base of this whole transportation structure is the 1500 miles of State primary roads. It was the purpose of the Legislature, the engineers correctly hold, that these roads should be a "through trunk-line system, to which the secondary or feeder roads may lead." In routing them, therefore, local considerations, however compelling, had to yield to the big objective, namely, the State's claim. Accordingly, the primary road routes were chosen to serve three classes of traffic—through traffic, intercounty traffic, and the traffic between population centers.

As the map shows, there are six cross-state roads in this State primary system: three east and west and three north and south. These six roads will connect 26 cities with an estimated population of 1,500,000 and directly serve an additional population of 250,000 in our towns, villages and farms. It is frankly explained that those roads are not primarily farm-to-market roads and it is obvious they could not be if a fundamentally sound highway system, such as Missouri requires, were to be built. Yet when the system is completed the primary roads will be farm-to-market roads of the largest utility and value, since they will cut down traffic cost and distance between all the farms and all the markets of Missouri.

Besides the 1500 miles of State primary roads the plan provides for 1800 miles of Federal primary roads. The latter articulate with the State roads and are, as a matter of fact, an extension of the basic system. The Federal roads will follow routes designated in part by the Legislature. They will be of high class secondary construction. To localities which have built or are building good roads—and there are many such in Missouri—the proposed State and Federal systems will mean, when completed, a splendid state-wide road service. To the localities without good roads they will carry an invitation—or summons—to build the same and reap their full share of these transportation advantages.

Objections, of course, will be made to the engineers' report. Full opportunity will be afforded by the commission to localities with grievances. That is the right procedure. But eventually discussion must end, the rule of cloture be invoked and the work of road construction commenced. No matter how conscious the commission may be of its own fairness, some dissatisfaction must be encountered. That is the price of conscientious service in public life. The thing to do now is to get on with the work of building roads. The watchword of the commission now should be construction, for which it has so well planned.

ENGLAND'S RICHEST HEIRESS MARRIES

Miss Edwin Ashley Weds Lord Mountbatten, Cousin of King George.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, July 18.—A wedding second only in interest to that of Princess Mary and Viscount Lascelles took place this afternoon in St. Margaret's, Westminster, when England's richest heiress, Miss Edwin Ashley, granddaughter of Sir Ernest Cassell and goddaughter of King Edward VII, was married to Lord Louis Mountbatten. The bridegroom is grandson of the late Queen Victoria, a cousin of King George and the closest friend and companion of the Prince of Wales, who was the best man at today's ceremony.

King George and Queen Mary attended the wedding, after which a reception was held at Brookhouse, the Park Lane mansion which is part of the bride's inheritance. £15,000, and which will be the home of the couple after their honeymoon in Spain as well as guests of King Alfonso and their later trip to America.

The bridegroom, whose father, the late Lord Milfordhaven, was Prince of Battenberg until the King abolished all the German titles held by English royalty, is a young naval officer who acted as aide to the Prince of Wales in his tours of Australia and Japan.

Miss Katherine T. Wendell, daughter of the late Jacob Wendell Jr. of New York, and Lord Porchester, heir to the Baronet of Carmarthen, were married yesterday in St. Margaret's Church, Westminster. The wedding was attended by many society people, including Lord Louis Mountbatten and Miss Ashley.

Portraits of Lord Louis Mountbatten and his bride appear on the pictorial page of the Post-Dispatch today.

HEIRESS ENTERS BUSINESS

Rockefeller's Granddaughter Will Establish Shop.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 18.—A millinery shop will be opened in Chicago next fall by Miss Muriel McCormick, daughter of Harold F. McCormick and granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller. Miss McCormick confirmed the report that she was going into business after being told that Chicago had heard she was going to open such an establishment here.

Although heiress to two fortunes, Miss McCormick, who has been a guest of Mrs. James A. Stillman, said she was going to become a business woman because she loved style creation.

1956 DIVORCES GRANTED SINCE OCTOBER, 1921

Report on Work of 13 Civil Divisions of Circuit Court
Made by Judge Taylor.

In a report made today by Circuit Judge Taylor on the work of the 13 civil divisions of the Circuit Court from Oct. 1, 1921, to June 30 last, it is shown that 1956 divorces were granted in the Courts of Domestic Relations, and 1629 cases involving neglected, delinquent and dependent children were handled in the Juvenile Court. Of the divorces, Judge Garesche granted 673 and denied 20, and Judge Calhoun granted 1283 and denied 41.

The 13 divisions handled 9157 legal matters in the period, of which 822 were verdicts by juries, 91 mistrials and 1442 judgments by the courts. In addition there were 4751 back tax suits, in which 2747 judgments were granted.

The report also gives statistics for the period from Oct. 1, 1920, to Sept. 30, 1921, showing 9851 legal matters handled, 620 verdicts by jury, 1349 judgments by the Court and 978 divorce decrees.

The period from Oct. 1, 1909, to Sept. 30, 1910, is shown for comparative purposes. There were only nine civil divisions in that period, and 7254 legal matters were handled. There were 364 jury verdicts, 1383 judgments by the Court and 978 divorces.

The report indicates that the present system of handling cases through an assignment court is more efficient than before the assignment court was established, in that congestion of dockets is prevented, thus enabling the Judges to try more jury cases, which consume the most time.

The Original Goodyear Cushion Tire

now equipped with

The All-Weather Tread

Several years ago, Goodyear engineers invented and patented the Goodyear Hollow-Center Cushion Tire for motor trucks.

It was made with a soft base and attached to the wheel by side flanges. This was the first hollow-center cushion truck tire of S. A. E. measurements.

Later this tire was improved by attaching to it a steel base, making it a "pressed-on" tire.

More than 30,000 of these earlier types have been used and have established a unique reputation for resilience and wear.

But these tires were smooth treads.

Now the ultimate development has been effected by combining the virtues of the Hollow-Center Cushion Tire with the advantages of the world-famous Goodyear All-Weather Tread.

The result is the new Goodyear All-Weather Tread Cushion Tire. Look at its outstanding features:

- 1—It has triple cushioning—due to the patented Goodyear Hollow-Center, the famous Goodyear All-Weather Tread, and the new Goodyear Indented Sidewall.
- 2—It has the tractive might of the Goodyear All-Weather Tread.
- 3—It has a special Goodyear pressed-on base.
- 4—It has the wearing strength of Goodyear stock and construction.

The new Goodyear All-Weather Tread Cushion Tire is a true cushion tire, built to meet the special requirements of a particular type of hauling, and it is resilient to the last mile.

It is a logical development of the Goodyear Hollow-Center Cushion Tire, and it is a distinct and important advance on that splendid tire.

For other types of hauling, Goodyear makes other special tires. Sold and serviced by your Goodyear Truck Tire Service Station Dealer

McCurdy's Inability to Stop Giants on Bases and Failure To Hit Toney Beat Cards

McGraw's Men Make Five Hits, Score Three Runs and Steal Four Bases in Three Innings Youngster Is Behind Plate—Doak Loses Well Pitched Game, 3-2.

By Herman Wecke,

"What was Rickey's idea in using McCurdy, an inexperienced youngster, just fresh from college, against the Giants, one of the best base-running teams in the National League?" That was the question uppermost in the minds of spectators who witnessed yesterday's 3 to 2 defeat of the Cardinals at the hands of the Giants.

"Well I knew they would steal everything but the ball park with McCurdy behind the bat." So spoke the "I told you so" regarding the contest.

No matter on what side of the fence you were, it was a great game for the second guessers, that battle yesterday. And there were some 19,000 persons present. So thick was the crowd that it was necessary to stretch ropes in front of the pavilions right and left field. Among the spectators were no fewer than 7000 women.

Statistics of the game, however, show that there was some wisdom in the question, "Why was McCurdy used?" Truth of the matter is that McCurdy's first place aggregation which was hanging on the ropes as the result of two successive drivings by the Cardinals, did all its scoring in the three innings the former Illinois U. star was behind the bat.

Poor Throw Helps Giants.

It was McCurdy's poor throw in the first inning and his failure to hold a pitched ball from Bill Doak in the third that gave the Giants two of their runs.

In all, it was a poor day for the rookies, who had looked up as a coming star in his other appearances behind the plate. But against a team like the Giants, he cracked.

Bill Doak's pitching improved wonderfully after McCurdy had been replaced by "Tubby" Clemons. Where in the first three frames Spittin' Bill walked two men and permitted five hits, the Giants were able to get only two safeties in the last six. Bill did not pass a man. And in this time only 19 men faced blond Bill.

See how the Rickey pulled a managerial whopper when he took a chance with the youngster.

McCurdy's shortcomings cropped up in the first round. Doak passed Bancroft for a starter. Rawlings went out, and Bancroft advanced. The Giant shortstop went to third when Frisch beat out a bunt down the third-base line, and scored when Meusel almost floored Doak with a liner, which the latter recovered in time to toss to Fournier for the out. Then Young walked. Frisch and Young started a double steal and Frisch scored when McCurdy made a wide throw to second.

McCurdy Again at Fault.

And then came the third inning, when the Giants tallied what proved the winning marker. Bancroft opened with a single. Rawlings fouled out. Then Bancroft stole, being helped along when McCurdy dropped the pitch. Frisch followed with a hit that scored Bancroft. Frisch went down on the first pitch and again McCurdy dropped Doak's pitch. Frisch tried to steal third, but was out.

That was the end of McCurdy's catching for the day and it ended the offense of McGraw's packers.

Starting the fourth, Clemons was behind the bat. Immediately Doak's pitching picked up as did the general play of the Cardinals. In five of the next six rounds Doak retired the invaders in order, being helped by a double play in the fourth.

Blond Bill, who in his previous out stopped the Phillips, with one hit, really deserved a better fate. He turned in a well pitched game—one that will bring victory most of the time. He was not on the books for Bill to win you.

He permitted only seven hits, three of them of the infield variety.

Cardinals Fall to Hit Toney.

But there were other causes for the Cardinal defeat other than McCurdy's shortcomings behind the plate. There was the batting importance of Rickey against Fred Toney with his home team. The Cardinals made eight hits, but except in the fifth, when they tallied

McCurdy Used Because of Good Showing and Clemens' Injured Hand

WEN Harry McCurdy, young Illinois U. catcher, went in to backstop for Doak in the third of the series yesterday, and allowed the Giants to steal four bases in three innings, his original plan being to have him not be substituted. Baseball fans wanted to know why McCurdy, a star, was delegated to catch Doak against the world's champions in a crucial series.

Here's the official reason: Almstrong never has caught Doak successfully.

Clemens, who always catches Doak, has an injured hand and is under doctor's orders not to play. McCurdy had caught excellent ball in three previous games. It was, therefore, decided to use McCurdy.

Giants Help Giants.

It was McCurdy's poor throw in the first inning and his failure to hold a pitched ball from Bill Doak in the third that gave the Giants two of their runs.

Two other real chances besides the first came to the batsmen. The first one came in the fifth when men on second and third and only one out. Fournier and Stock easy loafers to Meusel in left field, and in the seventh. Jack Stock fell down with first and second occupied.

In the fifth, it was Max Flack who was there with the punch in the play. Clemens opened with a single. Flack beat out a bunt, and Lavan's ace put Clemens in third. Doak sacrificed Lavan to second. Flack came through with a walk to left field for two bases and Clemens and Lavan trotted home. Flack was out trying for third.

Chance for Second Guessers.

Here again the second guessers had a chance. "Why not Flack held second?" But all ball players know that Meusel has none too strong an arm. The ball went to a high fly, and the two men who scored in the fifth, and a Cardinal as well.

As far as the defeat is concerned, the Cardinals are again a game and a half behind the pace makers. The reverse of the last two weeks.

Today, however, the day after a long day, the two men who scored in the fifth, and a Cardinal as far as third base.

Today, however, the day after a long day, the two men who scored in the fifth, and a Cardinal as far as third base.

In all the other rounds, the Cardinals were more or less helpless against Toney. Except Hornsby in the fourth, and the two men who scored in the fifth, and a Cardinal as far as third base.

Today, however, the day after a long day, the two men who scored in the fifth, and a Cardinal as far as third base.

That was the end of McCurdy's catching for the day and it ended the offense of McGraw's packers.

Starting the fourth, Clemons was behind the bat. Immediately Doak's pitching picked up as did the general play of the Cardinals. In five of the next six rounds Doak retired the invaders in order, being helped by a double play in the fourth.

Blond Bill, who in his previous out stopped the Phillips, with one hit, really deserved a better fate. He turned in a well pitched game—one that will bring victory most of the time. He was not on the books for Bill to win you.

He permitted only seven hits, three of them of the infield variety.

Cardinals Fall to Hit Toney.

But there were other causes for the Cardinal defeat other than McCurdy's shortcomings behind the plate. There was the batting importance of Rickey against Fred Toney with his home team. The Cardinals made eight hits, but except in the fifth, when they tallied

IN SAVES THE FOHIES

Washington Gains Four-Run
Lead Early in Game, Then Downpour Ends Contest.

By J. Roy Stockton,
the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.
WASHINGTON, July 18.—The game of the series between the Browns and Senators was scalded off at 3:30 p. m. on account of wet weather.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—"Put me in the box, Lee," the Browns were advising their manager two weeks. "We are in the middle up, but we can make runs for it. Put him in there and we'll get breaks."

And so, yesterday afternoon, when Judge slammed Dave Danforth in a four-run Homer, after Ray Fohlen had retired the Fohies in the first half of the first inning in about a minute, Fohl needed the assistance of the (O.) right-hander to the hill.
Whack! went the ball of the first batter and the single sailed to field. But Koly's luck was still out. He escaped that inning without damage, but was getting it in the third, when the Fohies had appeared to be running out with Danforth on the leads, which had opened to a sudden opening and let a rushing rain fall and fall and fall, and thus it came to pass that the Browns were saved from what appeared to be certain defeat. There was 5 to 1 against them, and Senators apparently were all set for a slugfest.

Browns Gain on Yanks.
The rain washed the game off the cards and made the Chicago defeat the Yankees worth a game to Fohlen, their first place margin increasing to two full games.
And the Browns, who had been game
by game purchased by the Boy Scouts Club, the proposed game will not be played this afternoon, but will be held over until the Browns make their next trip. Fohlen probably will pitch this afternoon, though it is possible that Urban Shocker is the pitcher. But pitching is the only way to win, and the Browns filled the bases in the second, but with nobody out. Shocker hit into a double play and only one run resulted.

Manager Miller of the Senators yesterday told the Browns that they could win the pennant easily if they have a man of real strength if you don't need many breaks."

British Isles Davis Cup Team Cables Default, in Semifinals With Spain

Message to U. S. Lawn Tennis Body Declares Britons "Unable to Secure a Representative Team"—Spaniards Notified to Name Men Who Will Compete in the Final.

NEW YORK, July 18.—Davis Cup plans moved swiftly through many mail changes yesterday. First the British Isles team registered a default in Spain in the semifinal round. That resulted in a shifting of the final round matches of the preliminary series to the turf of the Germantown Cricket Club, Philadelphia. The dates announced are Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Aug. 17, 18 and 19.

The first move in this sequence of events, one wholly unexpected to the Davis Cup Committee, was the arrival of a cable message from London which read as follows:

"Charley unable to secure representative team for America. British Isles scratch to Spain as present intention of latter is to compete in final."

There also was a message from Gerald L. Patterson, captain of the Australasian team, expressing regret that the Australasians were opposed to granting the week delay in the playing of the finals, which the British Lawn Tennis Association had requested. He stated that it was the desire of the team of his nation to compete in the American doubles championship at Longwood, Boston, beginning on Monday, Aug. 21, and therefore a final on the same field was impossible, it switched the series to the Germantown Cricket Club, Philadelphia, where the big stands for the national tournament already are in process of construction.

Spain to Name Its Team.

The Spanish Lawn Tennis Association was officially notified of the decision of the British Isles by cable last night. It also was requested to name the players of its team, which is expected to include Manuel Alonso and Count de Gomar, and to state when the players will sail for this country. The reply to this message is looked for by the officials today.

Tilden, Williams and Johnston Sure of Places on United States Davis Cup Team connection with the Davis Cup matches it was disclosed that the team practically had decided to use three of the players who will make up the American team. They are William T. Tilden II, William M. Johnston and R. Norris Williams. According to the present view of the committee, Tilden and Johnston will be used exclusively in the singles.

They are the singles matches of chief importance, figuring in the tournament, but without greatly affecting the chances of the United States to maintain its holding of the international trophy.

Williams is relatively the reserve player for the singles, can be used as a doubles partner and the fourth hour to incapacitate either Tilden or Johnston. It also is their opinion that Williams is one of the greatest doubles players in this country. By the process of elimination, the team will be named for the fourth week of the Davis Cup.

Another development of the international situation was revealed in the announcement that Tilden would play in the Metropolitan championship tournament at the Crescent Club, New York, next week, nor at the week following.

Tilden Already "Fine." He regards himself as being too "fine" and inclined to go stale with the result that he is not likely to go into action until the national doubles championship.

Williams will not play at the Crescent A. C., although he expects to compete at Seabright where he will have Washburn as his partner.

Fulton, Down for Count Of Nine Twice, Victor Over Capt. Bob Roper

Special to the Post-DISPATCH
NEW YORK, July 18.—RED FULTON, the Minnesota plasterer, defeated Bob Roper, soldier heavyweight, in a 12-round bout at the Broad Athletic Club, Newark, last night.

Fulton took a count of nine in the eighth round after receiving terrific left-hand smashes to the stomach. Fulton intimated that the blows were from men he had done wrong when Referee Lewis paid no attention to his complaints and kept counting. Fulton got up on both occasions at the count of nine.

Fulton cut Roper's eye so badly in the third round that the referee stopped the contest. The plasterer went to his dressing room, but was recalled by the Boxing Commissioners, who ordered the bout to continue.

A MAN'S WAY

By RUBY M. AYRES.

Chapter III—A Glimpse of the Dangerfields

"Well," said Molly Dangerfield triumphantly, "I've seen him, and I don't think he's half bad."

It was at tea-time at the White House, an old-fashioned, ugly-looking structure that stood halfway down the one street of any importance in Little Helpton village.

Molly's announcement was greeted with shouts of derision by the five boys seated round the table.

As all their mouths were more or less full of bread and jam, it was rather difficult to distinguish any particular remark from the storm hurled at her, especially as everyone spoke at once.

Molly waited.

"When you've all done shouting," she remarked, in the first hull of the storm, "perhaps you'll listen to what I've got to say. In the first place, I trespassed in his old wood, to get those primroses"—she pointed to a dish of the little yellow flowers which adorned the center of the table. "And Jumbo came along."

The roar of laughter broke out again.

"Good old Molly! Just the name for him. Isn't he like a baby elephant?" Leslie, who was sitting next to her, hissed, thumped her on the back. "Jumbo! That's great! Well, and what did he say?"

Molly smiled.

"Well, first he told me to clear out—more or less, you know, but I talked to him nicely, and in the end he said we might go into the wood whenever we liked, at least," she added more truthfully. "He said that I might, but if you boys are good I'll let you come, too."

" Didn't know he could be so generous," said Leslie, with biting sarcasm. "He's as rich as Croesus, and as mean as—mean as they make 'em!" he added disgustedly.

"He didn't look mean," Molly interposed. "In fact, I rather liked him."

Red-headed Ned from the other side of the table sniffed. "Some people will like anything," he said with great satisfaction.

"I'll bet he didn't like you—or, at least, he wouldn't if he knew you were one of us. That sleek-headed secretary of his hates us like poison, so you bet your boots he's told Jumbo about us, and that Jumbo hates us, too."

"I told him I was a Dangerfield," Molly answered. "And he didn't seem to mind. As a matter of fact I don't believe he'd ever heard of us before."

"Poor chap," said Leslie commiseratingly. "We shall have to introduce ourselves." He winked portentously at his brothers.

"I won't have you getting up to any tricks!" Molly said sharply. "He was quite decent to me, and if you start playing jokers on him we won't let me in the woods again; so you'd better look out, or there'll be a row," she added, raising her voice to fill her words after the boys, who had finished their tea and were tumbling over one another in their anxiety to get out of the room.

When they had gone, Molly leaned her head on the table and looked at the dish of primroses with thoughtful eyes.

That she had told Jarden that morning was quite true; that she had been sent away to a convent school because nobody could manage her at home and though it seemed highly improbable that she would ever be anything but a tomboy, the two years' restraint had done her a lot of good, and already she was beginning to see that the boys, though perfect dears, and, of course, she adored them, were just a little too—she could not find a word to explain what it meant.

The Dangerfields had lived all their lives in Little Helpton.

For one thing the White House was their own, and so it did not matter at all if it fell to pieces about their ears, and for another thing they had not got the money with which to effect a removal.

Mrs. Dangerfield was an invalid, and her husband, so Little Helpton had it, was a rogue.

Perhaps that was putting it rather strongly, but at any rate he had apparently been the black sheep of the family, and sometimes he even neglected her little son.

His wife, little Ned, who loves her and believes in her and trusts her all because the middle-aged man who has been paying attention to her is going on a long journey and hasn't asked her to marry him and go with him.

Poor soul!

It's pretty hard for a middle-aged woman to give up a hope or even to change a plan.

A girl of 18 has a dozen strings to her bow.

If one partner leaves her, she can get a new one before the music starts up for the next dance, but the middle-aged woman—ah, the ballroom is beginning to be empty of men and she is so afraid she'll be a wallflower!

Now if she only knew it, a middle-aged woman can get a good deal of fun out of life if she will only make up her mind that she is a wallflower and not expect to be anything else.

Give Little Sister Her Chance.

By WINIFRED BLACK

THE middle-aged woman is breaking her middle-aged heart.

She's neglecting her work and slighting her friends and forgetting her philosophy, and sometimes she even neglects her little son.

She's a little old soul who loves her all because the middle-aged man who has been paying attention to her is going on a long journey and hasn't asked her to marry him and go with him.

Give Little Sister Her Chance.

It is not all fun and frolic and laughter over there in the debutante's corner poor, wistful Mrs. Middle-Aged.

The girls look awfully pretty in their little crushable frocks, with their big, starry eyes and their light little feet—but a debutante has a certain tact to keep up. She must be lively, she must be amusing, and she must be pretty, even if she has a long nose and crooked eyes and not the vestige of a figure.

There's nobody cares whether the wallflower is lively or not, and nobody expects her to be particularly good looking.

Besides, Mrs. Middle-Aged, why are you so greedy? You had your youth and your dreams—you had

I'VE seen the finest bus machines
That ever hit the pike;
The runabouts and limousines,
The tourings and the like.
I've seen the fastest boats by far,
That ever split the wind,
But Mary Ellen's Kiddie-Kar
Has all the others skinned.
It doesn't run by gasoline
Nor electricity;
It's just a little plain machine
Of great simplicity.
But Mary gives 'em all a jar

Her two-leg-power Kiddie-Kar
Can beat 'em in a walk.

WHY NOT?
